

What a Slapdash Graduate workshop can offer your students:

Assemblies

Slapdash Graduate can provide assemblies for all students of all ages, musical and general population alike. This introduces the students to their unique style of music and creates excitement and interest in the program. Most importantly, it opens all the students eyes to the influence of music in their daily lives.

Workshops

With their fun, creative, and interactive approach, SDG inspires students to become more involved in your school's music program. With your input, the band will provide customized workshops for your students, regardless of age or level of musical ability. SDG covers a wide range of topics ranging from the most basic to advanced technical questions.

Clinic

SDG can also work with your select groups in a clinic setting. Students will perform music from their repertoire and the members of SDG will provide professional perspective and feedback, both general and specific. This setting allows outside reinforcement of the teachers' lessons.

Slapdash Graduate will help reinforce many of the same issues you mention every day including, but not limited to:

- warm-ups
- rehearsal strategy
- proper vocal health/care
- vocal technique
- breath support
- improvisation
- blending exercises
- vocal percussion
- tone quality
- vowel shaping
- solfege
- a cappella arranging
- audio production
- career opportunities

...and much more...

SDG is excited about the opportunity to come to your school and community. We hold a strong enthusiasm towards the education of America's youth in music and the arts. We are ready to work with you to inspire your students and help strengthen and expand your program.

Members of Slapdash Graduate have been involved in bringing interactive educational programs to hundreds of schools across the nation.

They utilize their varying degrees in Music Education and Music Business, as well as practical performing experience, to reach and inspire your students.
